

HOUSING INFORMATION

At Comillas, we strongly recommend university residences as they usually provide students with a smoother and more secure experience during their stay in Madrid. In general, residences offer a higher level of service and support, with fixed pricing and no concerns related to landlords or rental management. In many cases, they also include meal plans and provide an excellent opportunity for students to integrate with other international and local students in a university environment. Additionally, the residences we work with are well connected both to our campuses and to the city of Madrid.

Nevertheless, below you will find information about the different university residences that collaborate with Comillas, as well as a list of other accommodation platforms offering rooms in shared flats, apartments, host families, and other housing options.
