Medical Insurance for Spain

What are the best deals for young internationals moving to Spain?

Quite possibly the most important topic for your personal safety is a good medical insurance that will cover you during your time abroad. This is especially true for those who will come from outside the European Union and who will require specific coverage.

EU citizens do not necessarily need private insurance but it is recommended. Especially in these times having access to the private healthcare sector could help avoid potential waiting times and language barriers.

Popular private hospitals, such as HLA, HM Hospitales and Quirónsalud, provide services like a personal on-site medical translator for international patients at no extra cost, as long as you have international private insurance.

Looking for Home Visit Doctor Services in Madrid?

MedinAction provides English-speaking doctors for home visits, as well as online medical consultations. The service is designed to offer quick, clear medical support in English, whether you need help with a minor illness, a prescription, a check-up or advice on what to do next.

Free Visa & Legal E-mail Consultation

Offered by the expert team of Moving to Spain Relocation & Consulting Services (MTS)

Applying for a student visa to study in Spain for more than 90 days can seem complicated at first, but don't worry, it's usually a very straightforward process once you know the steps. To begin, you'll need to collect several documents that prove your purpose of stay and your ability to live in Spain as a student. These usually include:

- Your acceptance letter from a recognized school or university in Spain
- Proof of sufficient funds to support yourself during your stay
- Private health insurance valid in Spain
- Proof of accommodation (e.g. rental contract or letter of stay)
- A valid passport and visa application form

Once everything is ready, you can schedule an appointment and submit your visa application at the nearest Spanish consulate or embassy in your home country.

If you're unsure about what documents you need, how to prepare them, or how to handle your arrival procedures once in Spain (like the TIE residence card), the MTS legal experts are here to help! They offer a free visa and legal consultation via email, so you can get personalized guidance before starting your application.

As processes/immigration laws are subject to change, please always make sure to check directly with your local Spanish Consulate for more information. For detailed and up to date information on entry requirements to Spain, feel free to send an email to info@citylifemadrid.com.
