Problem to be solved

Universities have great difficulty in managing the international mobility process, from finding accommodation to possible unforeseen events during the stay. Additionally, the increase of mobility make the relocation process complicated.

01 Trust

Platforms are saturated with the same owner's accommodations, where everyone fight for their reservation commissions, having no visibility beyond the reservation process.
This along the lack of international housing offer, make the reservation a difficult task for any international student.

02 User experience

Problems and incidents always happen during student stays. Having no follow-up service or process established could ruin the student experience, reducing the enrollment rate in future semesters due to bad experiences.

03 Low visibility

Having no operational process or service associated to students experience make the incidents visibility difficult for international coordinators. Who receive the issue, usually find complicated to manage and solve it, specially from the distance.

Unique value proposition

We facilitate the international mobility process for universities on a platform that digitalizes the process of housing reservation, stays follow up and related services acquisition.
